

You are invited to tour Frank Lloyd Wright's Brandes Residence - Sammamish, Washington

Saturday, 3. July 2004 - 9:30 am to 5 pm

In 1952 Frank Lloyd Wright designed a unique "Usonian" house for Mr. & Mrs. Ray Brandes for their acreage on Issaquah's Pine Lake Plateau. The low-slung, organic design features Wright's innovative use of natural materials including: the heated red concrete floor, rose colored masonry walls and natural redwood. Full height doors and casement windows open the house to the out-of-doors. Wright used his characteristic hovering horizontal roofs to connect the main house to a separate workshop, thus creating a carport. The house receives natural light throughout the day via the clerestory windows. This beautifully landscaped and impeccably preserved home has Wright's original furniture. Summer is a beautiful time to visit this home. The EcoHome Foundation and Frank Lloyd Wright Building Conservancy we are pleased the owners have generously offered to share the magic of their home with you.

The final tour Saturday (very Limited) will include wine and hors d'oeuvres while you enjoy sunset in the living room. Reservations for this rare opportunity are limited and will go very quickly!!! Reservations will be assigned by time. Please mark your reservation preferences clearly.

We are also planning an exclusive tour of the Bagley Wright home and gallery designed by Arthur Erickson. To remain on the mailing list you must return this form!
